STATE TAKES OVER MARION BANK TODAY

Commercial Bank Closed at Request of Board of Directors.

DEPOSITS GUARANTEED

Three Other Institutions Agree To Pay All Unsecured Claims.

The Commercial Bank of Marion today was taken over by the state banking department for liquidation at the request of the bank's board of directors. Three other Marion banks have announced they will guarantee payment of the Commercial's unsecured deposits.

The "frozen" condition of the bank's assets was given as the reason for the action by the board of directors.

State Man Hired

Chauncey C. Stevenson of the state banking department who has been named liquidating agent by Ira J. Fulton, superintendent of banks, was busy today with officials of the institution preparing to take initial steps toward liquidation.

Depositors of the Commercial bank will not be obliged to await the liquidation of assets to obtain their money. Depositors' pass books may be presented at the Marion National bank, the Marion County bank and the National City Bank & Trust Co. for verification and payment of their claims.

The bank, of which John K. Peters was president and cashier, had a capital stock of $50,000 with total resources of $234,912, according to the institution's last financial statement published June 30. The statement also listed savings deposits of $19,492.30, checking account deposits of $98,156.04.

Post Notice

Notices that the bank had been turned over to the state banking department and that other Marion banks would guarantee payment of unsecured deposits were posted at the door of the bank this morning. Fulton's statement read: "At the request of the board of directors of the Commercial bank, same has been closed and the undersigned, superintendent of banks, state of Ohio, has this day taken possession of its business and properties as provided in Section 710-89 of the general code of Ohio."

The statement of the three other Marion banks said "To the depositors of the Commercial bank of Marion, Ohio, will take over and guarantee payment of all the net unsecured savings and individual deposits of the Commercial bank of Marion, Ohio."

To Get Credit

"Upon presentation of your pass book or certificate of deposit, when properly certified as to amount of net deposit less any indebtedness or other liability to the Commercial bank, the undersigned will give you immediate credit therefor, for payable on demand." This statement carried the names of the Marion National bank, the Marion County bank and the National City Bank & Trust Co.

The Commercial bank was the youngest of Marion's banking institutions. Organized in 1920 as the West Side Banking Co., its first president was William P. Kelly, who was succeeded by John K. Peters. The name of the institution was changed last year to the Commercial bank.

Directors of the institution are William P. Kelly, Carl F. Werley, James E. Messenger, M. A. Virden, T. K. Peters, George T. Geran, James M. Harringer, Frank Campbell, Phillip Firenberger and John Hecker.

GOODYEAR AND NAVY BALLOON ENTRIES WIN

Will Represent U. S. in International Gordon Bennett Contest.

By The Associated Press

Akron, O., July 20.—The navy and the Goodyear-Zeppelin balloons today won the right to represent the United States with W. T. Van Orman of Akron, in the international Gordon Bennett balloon race. They were the last to land in the elimination race with six entrants that started here yesterday.

The U. S. navy balloon came to earth at Marillon, N. Y. at 6 a. m. today, 25 miles further than the Goodyear-Zeppelin bag which reported it landed at 3:30 a. m. at Stevensville, Ont.

Report Official Marks

Official distances gave the navy entry a distance of 215 miles, and the Goodyear VIII, 190 miles. Storms menaced all of the balloons in the early stages of the race.

The two bags thus earned the right to represent the United States in the international Gordon Bennett races. By going farthest, the navy bag won the P. W. Litchfield trophy in the national elimination.

Lieut. T. G. W. (Tex) Settle, pilot of the navy bag, his aide was Lieut. Wilfred Bushnell.

Frank Trotter, pilot of the Goodyear VIII, was accompanied by Roland Blair, as aide. Last year they captured the national race and held the record among the six competing balloons for continuous hours aloft at the start of the race.

Detroit Entry Third

Third place went to Ed J. Hill, pilot and Arthur Schlosser of the WJH, Detroit, who landed about 1:05 a. m. at Westleyville Pa. eight miles east of Erie, after covering a distance of 110 miles.

Captain Carl S. Axatier and Lieut. H. H. Couch landed at Custard, Pa. in Army No. 1, at 10:20 p. m. Sunday for fourth place and a distance of 80 miles. Captain Axatier was forced down by a storm.

Fifth place went to L. P. Purolo and John Reiter, the Akron blimp pilots, who were forced down by a storm four miles north of Ravenna, after traveling only 20 miles.

The inflated army No. 2 entry, piloted by Lieut. Edgar Fögelinger and Lieut. John A. Tarr, which came to earth only 35 minutes after taking off, was last. It traversed only about 12 miles.

Approximately 75,000 persons endured temperatures above 90 degrees at the airport to watch the start of the race. They saw the six balloons ascend in hardly more than one hour. At the start, the bags were pushed by a 25-mile wind, going northeast. Within a short time, however, the entries had scattered.

STORMS BRING HEAVY LOSS TO COUNTY CROPS

ELECTRIC AND TELEPHONE LINES CRIPPLED

Lightning Burns Out Several Transformers of C. & D. & M.; Loss To Run About $7,000; Four Horses Killed While Grazing in Pasture.

Trees were uprooted, crops laid flat and telephone and electric light service crippled by the storm which swept across the county late Saturday afternoon. Loss to crops is expected to run to thousands of dollars.

The storm, accompanied by high winds, heavy rainfall and hail, broke shortly before 4 p. m. and in some parts of the county tagged for nearly two hours. Territory in the vicinity of Waldo, according to reports, caught the brunt of the storm. A patch four or five miles wide extending through Waldo and as far south as Norton suffered great damage. Fields of corn and oats were laid flat by the wind and hail.

Trees Uprooted

Telephone and electric light service was disrupted by the lightning. A large willow tree at the home of C. P. Groll in Waldo was uprooted as were many fruit trees in various parts of the village. A portion of the roof at the elevator at Waldo was also torn off by the wind. Four horses in a field at the farm of Warren Gholson, east of Waldo, were killed when struck by lightning.

More than 60 telephones were put out of commission in Waldo by the storm while the electric power was cut off when transformers in the vicinity were burned out by lightning. The lines were repaired yesterday and the village had both power and light last night.

Considerable damage was suffered by the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co. in all parts of the county as the result of recent storms. L. C. Stang, vice president and general manager of the company, said this morning. The loss has been unofficially estimated at more than $7,000, although Mr. Stang said it would be impossible to give an accurate estimate at this time. Most of the damage was to transformers, he said. This morning found practically all of the damaged transformers replaced or repaired and service restored.

Phone Damage Night

The telephone company reported no serious damage in Marion. A number of phones were put out of commission by the lightning but, officials said this morning that complete service had been resumed.

Little wind accompanied the storm north of the city. While the rain poured in torrents in the vicinity of Brush Ridge, there was practically no wind and but little lightning.

Heavy rains were reported at Caledonia with no damage from wind or lightning from the storm. The storm brought a short respite from the intense heat of Friday and Saturday. Sunday the mercury was back at 92. One year ago yesterday Marion sweltered in a temperature of 102 while the lowest point of the day was 79, cooler weather was promised by the weatherman today. Local thundershowers are predicted for tonight with slightly cooler temperature and Tuesday is to be generally fair.

Laborer Cries, Mourns at the Haberman Chevrolet Co., is recovering from a heart prostration today at his home at 415 south Vine street. He was overcome while at work Saturday afternoon and was taken to City hospital in the W. C. Lloyd ambulance. He was released from the hospital yesterday.

His foot was almost severed over the instep and the amputation was completed at the hospital. He was taken to the hospital in the Schaffner-Queen ambulance.

She applied the brakes too suddenly and lost control of the car. It crashed through the guard fence on the north side of the road. Motorists helped the occupants from the car.

Mrs. Stainer received a five-inch cut on her right temple and a smaller cut on her right arm near the elbow. The little girl received minor cuts about the face and slight bruises while the other occupants of the auto escaped with bruises. Dr. Stutz gave medical attention to the injured.

Diplomats in London for Important World Parley

Seven Nations Represented in International Economic Conference; Will Continue Franco-German Preliminary Financial Negotiations Started Recently in Paris.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, July 20.—Statesmen of seven great powers assembled here today for the most important international conference since the meetings at Versailles wrote the war into the economic and political map of the world.

They were charged with the task of reconciling conflicting national interests into a program of reconstruction to pull Germany free of economic catastrophe and, at the same time, of lessening financial stress throughout the world.

Britain prepared for the meeting simply. For the first assembly of the statesmen, to be held this evening in Prime Minister MacDonald's room in the house of commons, no elaborate ceremonial was planned. Business first was the order of the day. An atmosphere of optimism pervaded London today—so much so that in diplomatic circles it was predicted the conference would finish its job this week.

Promptness Necessary

This conference was in large part based upon the elimination from the program of the troublesome question of political guarantees asked by France from Germany in exchange for participation in financial aid. It was based, too, upon the knowledge that the ministers taking part in the deliberations were aware of the necessity of prompt action to relieve all Europe.

A third factor was the Franco-German agreement reached at preliminary negotiations in Paris that both France and Germany would do everything they could to create conditions favorable to effective collaboration between them in both the political and economic fields.

Will Represent U. S. in International Gordon Bennett Contest.

By The Associated Press

Akron, O., July 20.—The navy and the Goodyear-Zeppelin balloons today won the right to represent the United States with W. T. Van Orman of Akron, in the international Gordon Bennett balloon race. They were the last to land in the elimination race with six entrants that started here yesterday.

The U. S. navy balloon came to earth at Marillon, N. Y. at 6 a. m. today, 25 miles further than the Goodyear-Zeppelin bag which reported it landed at 3:30 a. m. at Stevensville, Ont.

Report Official Marks

Official distances gave the navy entry a distance of 215 miles, and the Goodyear VIII, 190 miles. Storms menaced all of the balloons in the early stages of the race.

The two bags thus earned the right to represent the United States in the international Gordon Bennett races. By going farthest, the navy bag won the P. W. Litchfield trophy in the national elimination.

Lieut. T. G. W. (Tex) Settle, pilot of the navy bag, his aide was Lieut. Wilfred Bushnell.

Frank Trotter, pilot of the Goodyear VIII, was accompanied by Roland Blair, as aide. Last year they captured the national race and held the record among the six competing balloons for continuous hours aloft at the start of the race.

Detroit Entry Third

Third place went to Ed J. Hill, pilot and Arthur Schlosser of the WJH, Detroit, who landed about 1:05 a. m. at Westleyville Pa. eight miles east of Erie, after covering a distance of 110 miles.

Captain Carl S. Axatier and Lieut. H. H. Couch landed at Custard, Pa. in Army No. 1, at 10:20 p. m. Sunday for fourth place and a distance of 80 miles. Captain Axatier was forced down by a storm.

Fifth place went to L. P. Purolo and John Reiter, the Akron blimp pilots, who were forced down by a storm four miles north of Ravenna, after traveling only 20 miles.

The inflated army No. 2 entry, piloted by Lieut. Edgar Fögelinger and Lieut. John A. Tarr, which came to earth only 35 minutes after taking off, was last. It traversed only about 12 miles.

Approximately 75,000 persons endured temperatures above 90 degrees at the airport to watch the start of the race. They saw the six balloons ascend in hardly more than one hour. At the start, the bags were pushed by a 25-mile wind, going northeast. Within a short time, however, the entries had scattered.

STORMS BRING HEAVY LOSS TO COUNTY CROPS

ELECTRIC AND TELEPHONE LINES CRIPPLED

Lightning Burns Out Several Transformers of C. & D. & M.; Loss To Run About $7,000; Four Horses Killed While Grazing in Pasture.

Trees were uprooted, crops laid flat and telephone and electric light service crippled by the storm which swept across the county late Saturday afternoon. Loss to crops is expected to run to thousands of dollars.

The storm, accompanied by high winds, heavy rainfall and hail, broke shortly before 4 p. m. and in some parts of the county tagged for nearly two hours. Territory in the vicinity of Waldo, according to reports, caught the brunt of the storm. A patch four or five miles wide extending through Waldo and as far south as Norton suffered great damage. Fields of corn and oats were laid flat by the wind and hail.

Trees Uprooted

Telephone and electric light service was disrupted by the lightning. A large willow tree at the home of C. P. Groll in Waldo was uprooted as were many fruit trees in various parts of the village. A portion of the roof at the elevator at Waldo was also torn off by the wind. Four horses in a field at the farm of Warren Gholson, east of Waldo, were killed when struck by lightning.

More than 60 telephones were put out of commission in Waldo by the storm while the electric power was cut off when transformers in the vicinity were burned out by lightning. The lines were repaired yesterday and the village had both power and light last night.

Considerable damage was suffered by the Columbus, Delaware & Marion Electric Co. in all parts of the county as the result of recent storms. L. C. Stang, vice president and general manager of the company, said this morning. The loss has been unofficially estimated at more than $7,000, although Mr. Stang said it would be impossible to give an accurate estimate at this time. Most of the damage was to transformers, he said. This morning found practically all of the damaged transformers replaced or repaired and service restored.

The telephone company reported no serious damage in Marion. A number of phones were put out of commission by the lightning but, officials said this morning that complete service had been resumed.

Little wind accompanied the storm north of the city. While the rain poured in torrents in the vicinity of Brush Ridge, there was practically no wind and but little lightning.

Heavy rains were reported at Caledonia with no damage from wind or lightning from the storm. The storm brought a short respite from the intense heat of Friday and Saturday. Sunday the mercury was back at 92. One year ago yesterday Marion sweltered in a temperature of 102 while the lowest point of the day was 79, cooler weather was promised by the weatherman today. Local thundershowers are predicted for tonight with slightly cooler temperature and Tuesday is to be generally fair.

Laborer Cries, Mourns at the Haberman Chevrolet Co., is recovering from a heart prostration today at his home at 415 south Vine street. He was overcome while at work Saturday afternoon and was taken to City hospital in the W. C. Lloyd ambulance. He was released from the hospital yesterday.

Mellon, Stimson Present
Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the treasury and Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state, arrived in London from Paris yesterday. Hugh Gibson, ambassador to Belgium and the third member of the American delegation, was at the station to meet them.

Although reports from Paris declare that Herr Bruening, in his talk with French statesmen, did not mention the amount of credit he wants for Germany without delay, it was believed in London that about $500,000,000 would be found sufficient for immediate needs. This would be approximately one-half of the drainage of short term credits from Germany during the last few weeks.

STATESMEN LEAVE PARIS

Nations' Diplomats Enroute to London for Conference.

PARIS, July 20—Wreathed in smiles, the diplomats of the "international traveling conference" left here today for London. Despite the fact that their train went at the early hour—for diplomats—10 a. m., the entire staffs of the Paris embassies of Germany, Belgium and Italy, as well as high functionaries of the French foreign office, crowded the north station platform to wish their superiors well. Several thousand commoners were lined up in the station.

The principals in the party were Premier Laval and Foreign Minister Briand of France; Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius of Germany; Foreign Minister Grandi of Italy; and Foreign Minister Hymans and Emili Franqui, finance expert and diplomat, of Belgium. Despite their arduous negotiations in Paris, they all seemed in good shape.

"We are happy to have been able to exchange opinions in all frankness with our French colleagues, and we are convinced that this direct contact will have happy effects for more and more fruitful development of Franco-German collaboration, to which we are sincerely bound," Herr Bruening said.

MR. AGUINALDO, Filipino leader, encouraged by the utterances of wandering United States senators, has a plan. He would have the United States give immediate freedom, with self-government and the other concomitants, to the Philippine islands, while continuing for 10 years more the right of Filipinos to ship goods through our custom houses without payment of duty.

"Your government, no; your free markets, yes," is the program. It ought to work profitably, especially if, with United States supervision gone, goods from all Asia could be shipped to us duty-free through Manila, for a consideration.

SOME AMERICANS would suggest a counter proposition, as follows: Turn the Filipinos loose, to carry out their ideas, Uncle Sam retaining an adequate naval, submarine and airplane base at Manila, as of right since he owns the whole place, and as part payment for the millions we have spent there. There would be no free custom house, of course; otherwise the Filipinos could not accurately gauge their capacity to take an independent place among the world's nations.

Hemorrhoids Go Quick All Pile Misery Ended Without Cutting or Salve. Itching, bleeding, protruding piles go quickly and without cost back, if you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation in the hemorrhoidal veins causes piles by making the affected parts weak, flabby, almost dead. Salve and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonard discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients with success in 980 cases, he named it HEM-ROID. Henney & Cooper say one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must end your Pile misery or money back.—Adv.

Daily Proverb—"It is more difficult for a man to behave well in prosperity than in adversity."

Judging by the newspaper cuts of the four California people who figured in the trade of husbands and wives, all of them should have received boot.

As the result of a Canadian graft probe, donations to politicians aggregating $1,000,000 have been uncovered. Who was it who said that there wasn't any money in politics?

The state highway department has done well in deciding to write into all contracts let by it the minimum wage to be paid workers. There are times when the law of supply and demand should not be permitted to work, and a time of great unemployment is one of them.

"King Carol Receives U. S. Woman Visitor Miss Isabel Leighton Given Honor Achieved by Few Americans"—Headline over a New York story. People are getting mighty careless, these days, about what they designate as "honors."

The reputed bootleg chief of Cleveland and one of his henchmen are dead following being taken for a ride near Toledo. Emphatic in the criminal world is a far greater hazard than in the decent, law-abiding walks of life.
And in this day and age, that's saying a lot.

A woman resident of Evansville, Indiana, tripped on an untied shoestring, fell and broke one of her hip bones. Isn't that life? In this existence we are leading, we never know where danger lurks.

Chairman James C. Stone, of the farm board, says a farm moratorium would be futile. We are inclined to agree with him, but the mere fact that such a course would be futile, shouldn't stop the board from adopting it. The board from its organization has been going after futilities.

"Drink," according to Dr. Friedrich Vincenz von Hahn, "is more important than food, and beer is the most important of drinks." The doctor talks like a disciple of the "personal liberty" crowd.

Out in New Albany, Indiana, five men had begun serving terms, ranging from one to ten years, within ten hours of their arrest for automobile banditry. There's some system in administering punishment with the celerity set out.

Justice Philip J. McCook, of the Bronx supreme court, a day or two ago set aside a Reno divorce decree granted a New York woman. If Reno divorces are not to stand, there are going to be a awful lot of marital complications one of these days.

Senator David A. Reed, of Pennsylvania, says that he is "rapidly reaching the conclusion that the federal farm board is perhaps the most pernicious example of misdirected paternalism to be found in our whole government structure." That's taking in an awful lot of territory, but he's probably right in his conclusion at that.

Politics and Favoritism.

As a result of an investigation made by the director of public safety of Bayonne, New Jersey, of the distribution of emergency relief by the city, sixty-eight of 300 families thus far investigated have been stricken from the list of 1,000 families drawing relief funds and clothing from the city.

Among the sixty-eight flagrant cases of imposition some were found who had rented camps or bungalows at lake or seashore resorts; some had steady work at good pay; some owned their own homes and houses they rented to others; some were found to have funds with which they bought gasoline and equipment for their cars, yet claimed they were too poor to buy food for their children, one woman, while drawing five dollars a week and food and clothing for a child, had bought and paid for $150 worth of furniture and a radio, and a number of women had used the money secured from the city to get permanent waves at from five to ten dollars a wave.

The safety director attributed the diversion of relief funds discovered by him wholly to politics and favoritism. "Between one-third and one-half of the 300 families already investigated," he declared, "are persons in comfortable circumstances who do not need relief."

In all emergency relief, there is some imposition; there is bound to be. But there is no possible excuse for the diversion of funds through politics or favoritism. It's an imposition upon the taxpayers, an imposition upon the philanthropic, an imposition upon and an outrage against those really in need of relief.
When all is said, it will be found that the community fund plan, honestly and ably directed, is the very best method of ad-

Not a Menace in Manufactures.

R. E. Baker, secretary and treasurer of a Cleveland organization of engineers which designed and is supervising the construction of a big steel plant at Magnitogorsk for the soviet government sees no occasion for the world to worry over Russia as an international competitor in manufactured goods. It is his view that the Russian domain is so great, its needs so many and its transportation facilities so inadequate that it will be many years, if at all, when the bolshevik will constitute any real threat in the manufactured goods markets of the world. He holds that neither the plant at Magnitogorsk, which the Russian government hopes to make the largest in the world, nor Kuznetsk, another Siberian plant, which is about half the size of that under construction, offers any actual or potential economic threat to the iron and steel industry of Europe, much less the United States.

"Distances are great and transportation is poor in Russia," says the Cleveland engineer.
"I am convinced that it will be many years before Russia can take care of her own primary needs and that if the government attempted to ignore those needs it would cost them so much to get their own manufactured goods to their borders that they would be beaten in competition before they started."

"When you realize that this great steel plant at Magnitogorsk, with a steel capacity of 2,100,000 tons of open hearth and Bessemer steel per year could put that whole capacity into steel rails for the whole life of the plant without producing enough to give Russia a competent transportation system, you quit worrying about Russia being any menace to even her industrial neighbors in middle Europe, to say nothing of the rest of the world."

The view of Engineer Baker is so at variance with the general run that it is of more than ordinary interest. There have been many expressions of opinion on the possibilities of Russia as a producer of manufactures, but none of them has either estimated the potentialities of the land of the soviets in that line so lowly, much less offered grounds for holding them negligible as an economic menace to the world as does this Cleveland engineer. To put it in a sentence, he holds that Russia will necessarily be so busy supplying her own needs in manufactures, that she can not possibly be a threat to world trade in that line.

Colonel Woodcock, down in San Juan, has announced that he is going to dry up Porto Rico. If the island is to be made a Sahara such as this up here, there is no occasion for the fellows who "can drink it or let it alone" to worry seriously. They will probably be able to locate an occasional oasis.

Mid-Summer Silliness.

Two federal commissions, as is the wont of such bodies, are going 'round and 'round about the propriety of including the surrender of Lord Cornwallis in a pageant commemorating the 150th anniversary of that event. The hot weather evidently has claimed some eminent victims.

The Yorktown Sesqui-Centennial commission, through a sub-committee, has ruled the surrender should be omitted in deference to English guests. The George Washington Bi-Centennial commission says "no" to this ruling, emphatically. The unsolicited comment of the rest of the country: the part that is paying both commission's expenses is entirely favorable to the latter opinion.

What could be more ridiculous than a pageant of the final episode of the Revolutionary war without a scene depicting Cornwallis' surrender? Indeed, what could be more ridiculous than any historic pageant in Yorktown without the surrender scene? That's all that Yorktown means to the mass of the American people.

As for deference to English guests, that is no argument at all. The Yorktown celebration is an American celebration; if Englishmen are in danger of having their feelings hurt by witnessing it, their cue is to spend the time elsewhere. There is enough of cringing deference to English sensibilities without pro-faning commemoration of a vastly significant American victory over England by omitting the kernel of the commemoration's significance.

The controversy is disgracefully fatuous and had best be ended quickly by a return to common sense. The notion that any Britisher in his right mind would object to a depiction of the surrender at Yorktown is silly beyond words. The fact that two federal commissions are fighting over the notion—well, there's no comment for that but one of disgust.

THE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Fifty years ago at Portland, Maine, a visioned minister gathered fifty boys and girls in the modest environment of his unpretentious parsonage, pledging them to a program of principles and discipline that still remain the essence of the Christian Endeavor.

And how the order has grown! The fifty, through the years, has multiplied to 5,000,000 or more. The international convention, now in session at San Francisco, represents a mighty army enlisted for good, for righteousness. The delegates to this great conference represent more than the organized body they serve—the millions of men and women whose lives and characters have been shaped and influenced by it. They rest securely behind vital and enduring principles. They are the strong pillars which support an ethical edifice unlike any other in the world.

The organization is manned by, and inspired by, youth, fired by its enthusiasms. It has been little affected by the changing standards of the present era. Its golden jubilee is typical of its stupendous prevalence throughout a great nation; not only that, but its prevalence throughout many lands of the earth. Its membership is devoted to constructive good works.

These young crusaders are not ashamed to wear the colors of their cause in the face of all humankind. Their language and deeds speak for their fidelity to a cause as noble as any the world has known. — Cincinnati En-

In this utilitarian world most of the things we do are done for reasons of material gain.
But it is surprising how often material benefit is found to go hand in hand with benefits ignored when they are urged as a matter of beauty, justice or humanity.

Some day business is going to discover that it can prosper only when all the people of the United States have money with which to buy its products. Then it will find a way to end unemployment. The things that have been urged so long as a matter of social justice will be accomplished when industry wants them accomplished for the sake of profits.

Cold Bath May Be Harmful.

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

As a result of a sudden twist or fall, the back may be sprained. The pain following such an accident is often severe, even terrifying.

I recall playing golf with a man who was quite energetic in his driving. Following the swing of his club, he suddenly collapsed to the ground. The man complained of severe, agonizing pain in the back caused by the sudden sprain.

In a case like this, there is no change in the appearance of the back. Often, too, there is no history of a twist and the cause may be traced to a blow.

There is stiffness of the back and pain. The pain is most marked when the position is changed, or if there is an attempt to bend the body in certain directions. As in the case of my golf companion, it is sometimes all but impossible to stand erect.

In simple cases of backstrain, the pain is due to stretching or bruising of the muscles in the spine. The type is caused by an actual tearing of the muscle fibers. In such cases the pain persists for a long time, often several weeks.

It is sometimes difficult to distinguish a sprain of the back from lumbago. Lumbago is really an inflammation, usually described as a "neuritis" of the muscles of the back. It usually comes on after exposure to cold.

In acute backstrain, rest in bed is imperative.
Heat in the form of a hot-water bag or electric heater gives great relief.

It is important to support the back and allow the injured parts to rest. This is best accomplished by adhesive strapping applied by the doctor. In more severe forms and particularly where there is damage to the sacroiliac joint a supportive brace should be worn.
Great comfort is given by a belt which can be had at any instrument house or drug store.

On another occasion I shall tell you about similar symptoms due to body poisons.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

M. E. F. Q.—What causes excessive perspiration?
A.—This is usually due to some disorder of the nervous system.

H. A. H. Q.—What causes a burning in the stomach?
A.—This may be due to hyperacidity, caused by faulty diet and poor elimination. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

ANXIOUS. Q.—What benefit is yeast to the body?
A.—It is helpful in correcting constipation.

F. R. S. Q.—Would a teaspoonful of salt taken in warm water every morning tend to clear the complexion? Is this harmful in any way?
A.—Upon doing any close work my eyes become bloodshot—is this a sign of strain? What can be done to relieve the condition?
A.—It is unwise to take too much salt. Why not correct your diet and take plenty of exercise—this will keep the system in proper order and also clear your complexion. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

2.—Have your eyes examined—you probably need glasses.

MRS. B. Q.—What causes a tickling in the

J. M. E. Q.—I am a telephone operator and since my tonsils have been removed I seem to lose my voice at intervals. What would you advise?
A.—This is probably due to laryngitis. It is possible that you are straining your voice.
Have your throat examined so that definite advice and treatment can be outlined.

A. B. C. Q.—Is there a cure for bladder trouble?
A.—What will remove superfluous hair from the face?
A.—This depends entirely upon the nature of the disturbance and the underlying conditions. There are several different kinds of bladder trouble.

3.—Proper diet and regular elimination should overcome this condition. For full par-Galton as a Man of Science.

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

To the famous Beechacre Webb who refuses to share the title with her husband Sidney Webb, now Lord Passfield, the ideal man of science was not Henry Galton, Hooker or Lubbock, but Francis Galton. She describes Galton as follows: "that tall figure with its attitude of perfect physical and mental poise—the clean-shaven face, the thin compressed mouth with its enigmatical smile; the long upper lip and firm chin, and, as if presiding over the whole personality of the man, the prominent dark eyebrows, from beneath which gleamed, with penetrating humor, contemplative, the most relevant of live gray eyes."

Galton's many gifts were the unique contribution of three separate and distinct processes of the intellect; a continuous curiosity about, and rapid apprehension of individual facts, whether common or uncommon; the faculty for ingenious trains of reasoning, and, more admirable than either of them, because the talent who wholly beyond my reach, the capacity for correcting and verifying his own hypotheses, by the statistical handling of masses of data, whether collected by himself or supplied by other students of the problem."

Galton's major contributions to science will always stand associated with his name for all time. The first is a technical process, which required innumerable experiments and vast research identification by means of fingerprints. The other is one of the greatest biological and sociological problems of this or any age, eugenics, the science of human breeding to individual and race improvement.

During the period from 1867 to 1895 the study of fingerprints occupied the major portion of Galton's attention. Galton was not the first man to use fingerprints for administration purposes. This was Sir William Herschel, who actually used them in India as early as 1858. Karl Pearson, in his monumental biography of Galton, effectively disposes of the claims of Dr. Faulds, who chose to belittle it work of Herschel and Galton. Certain it is that from Galton can never be taken the credit for building the foundation upon which all subsequent work on fingerprints has been based, and particularly that part of it involving the use of fingerprints in criminal identification.

It is customary for the man-in-the-street to give the credit for this latter and more important phase of the work to the French criminologist, Bertillon. But it is a fact that Galton introduced Bertillon to the method, and this is acknowledged by Bertillon himself in a letter written in 1891. It is Pearson who makes the definitive statement: "Finger-printing as a science and finger-printing as an art are both alike the products of Galton's insight, ingenuity and tireless activity; the attempts to belittle the credit due to him can only spring from those who for their own purposes choose to ignore the literature on the subject."

Galton is the father of the science of eugenics, a science of supreme importance, but still in its infancy. Galton was never a crusader for eugenics; he was a scientist, a careful, scientific investigator. He was ever along by some of the consequences of the science he had brought into being. In regard to the work of the Eugenics laboratory, which he founded in 1907 and endowed in his will, Galton said just three months before his death: "I hold it to be thoroughly scientific and most valuable, and I rejoice that I was its founder."—Copyright, 1931, International Feature Service, Inc.

In National Road Heyday.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

The railroad companies are glad to place at the disposal of the president when he travels over their lines a special train, and the passing of the presidential party is generally noted along the entire route, but hardly the attention is given it that the coach in which a president was traveling over the old "National" road attracted. In the heyday of the life of that old thoroughfare such an event was little less than a triumphal procession.

The stage coach companies placed their finest coach at the president's orders, it was drawn by the best of their horses and the distinction of being driven by the president was an honor that went to the best of the best of the most reliable drivers. Outriders in advance heralded the coming of the president, and public houses and even private homes along the way were decorated by day and illuminated by night in honor of him.
Such an event was made a patriotic and an educational occasion. In these days of fast steam-driven transportation the passing of the president through the country is hardly attended along with such impressive commendation through Pennsylvania and often into Ohio Presidents Jackson, Van Buren, Monroe, Harrison, Polk and Tyler traveled, and the taverns at which they dined or rested for the night counting themselves fortunate, view with each other in showing honor to the noted officials.

In a lesser degree noted persons in private life and subordinate public officials were honored as they passed over the old highway.
Henry Clay always traveled in the "National" Coach when he was in Washington when going between Ashland, Kentucky, and the national capital.
He had been a champion of the road and for that reason was held in high esteem all along its line. Clayville, Pennsylvania, a village on the road, was named in his honor.
The people along the road also had a way of showing their resentment to those who opposed the road. Martin Van Buren, who had been against it, had the axle of his carriage sawed plain in two, and the road was so broken down in a bad place the work of some one who held resentment towards him because of his attitude toward the "National" road.

GEHRIG CLOUTS TWO HOMERS AS YANKEES BUMP TIGERS TWICE

Boston Scores One in Twelfth To Beat Cleveland Redskins, 6-5.

BY GAGLE TALBOT, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer
Now that Babe Ruth is not hitting home runs with quite the abandon of other days, Lou Gehrig is showing the customers what he can do along that line.

He was close to the whole show yesterday as the Yankees thumped the St. Louis Browns twice, 10 to 9 and 8 to 2. Going to bat seven times during the afternoon, he punched five hits, including his twenty-seventh and twenty-eighth homers of the year and a triple. His three hits in the first game drove in seven runs and he propelled two more across in the nightcap. His two home runs put him five ahead of his closest rivals among the four batter specialists. Babe Ruth and Chuck Klein.

Jack Rothrock's single over Averil's head in the twelfth inning scored Warrenter to beat the Red Sox 6 to 5 victory over Cleveland Indians. The Red Sox got off to a five-run lead, only to see it wiped away in the sixth and seventh innings when the Indians drove Jack Russell from the hill. Wiley Moore held Cleveland scoreless thereafter.

The Washington Senators picked up a half-game on the idle Athletics by defeating Detroit, 10 to 1, in a pitchers' battle between Lloyd Brown and Art Herring. The Senator outpawed in his own game with a single in the fifth scoring Hays.

John McGraw was forced to suffer from a distance as his New York Giants took a pair of 2 to 1 beatings from the St. Louis Cardinals and fell back into third place. The Giant leader was handed a three-day suspension for his run-in with Umpire Clarke on Saturday. Mel Ott's home run gave the Giants their lone run off Sylvester Johnson in the first game. The Cards bunched three of their four hits off Carl Hubbell in the fourth inning to score both of their. Paul Derringer, rookie St. Louis right-hander, struck out 13 Giants and allowed only seven hits in winning the nightcap, neither club scored until the ninth. "Pepper" Martin's double and singles by High and Orsatti gave the Cards the winning runs.

Robins Move Up
Brooklyn went back into second place by winning its second straight over the Chicago Cubs, 10 to 6. Led by Lefty O'Doul, who again cracked four hits in five at bats, the Robins fell on four Chicago pitchers for 17 hits and piled up a lead that enabled Hollis Thurston to breeze through.

Cincinnati and Philadelphia divided a doubleheader, the Red scoring four times in the last of the ninth to take the first, 7 to 6, and the Phillies, coming back behind Phil Collins, good pitching to win the second, 7 to 1. Tony Cucinello, Red second baseman, hit a double and five singles in the two tilts.

MORRAL WHITEWASHED
Sunbury applied a liberal coat of whitewash to the Morral team of the Rural Community league yesterday in a league encounter on the out-of-town diamond beating the Marion county team 6-0. The losers outlived the winners 8-7 but four misplays in the field cost them several runs. Sunbury scored all of its runs in two rallies, the first coming in the sixth and the last in the eighth.

COOL OFF, "JAWN"

And Don't Cuss Umps Next Time, Heydler Tells McGraw.

By The Associated Press
ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 20.—The famed turbulence of John J. McGraw of another day has been resurrected.

Suspended for a run-in with Umpire Bob Clarke here Saturday, the fiery manager of the New York Giants yesterday engaged in a spirited verbal encounter with John A. Heydler, president of the National league, but it availed him nothing.

When the argument was all over, McGraw left Sportsman's park and went to his hotel, and Heydler issued a statement saying the suspension, which is for three days, starting yesterday, would stand. He said no further action would be taken against McGraw.

"Just because McGraw is vice president of the New York club as well as its manager is no reason why he can have privileges on the bench," Heydler said. "He was suspended because of the abusive language he used on Umpire Clarke."

McGraw's run-in with Clarke occurred after a close play at first base. Clarke called outfielder Fullin out, and McGraw protested acrimoniously.

BITTER STRUGGLES TO CONTINUE IN ALL FOUR CITY LEAGUES

New Deadlocks Possible Among Leaders as Result of Week's Schedule.

By Bob Kirkpatrick

Sports Editor, The Star

It is just one big week after another in recreation baseball as far as the game is concerned in Marion. Having just completed what was probably the biggest week in the history of the game here in a point of both attendance and competition the next six days promise to bring forth almost equally interesting competition. Last week more than 3,000 persons witnessed the games, not including the 1,000 who attended the double-header benefit bill on Wednesday. The attendance this week will probably fall somewhat short of this mark but not by a very large margin.

The torrid battles which have been the case in the No. 2 Sunday school race for the last few weeks should cool down somewhat this week inasmuch as most of the leading teams are meeting second division outfits. St. Paul Lutherans, league leaders will clash with the United Brethren nine, which handed them a surprise beating in a first round game.

The First Presbyterians, who are pressing the leaders for the lead will take on Wesley M. E. Should St. Paul lose and Presbys win the latter will go into first place. However, it looks like both will win this week. These two games will be the major attractions of the No. 2 league. The two Christian teams will stage a strictly intrachurch affair that will provide considerable interest.

Despite the fact that Calvary smashed its way to a victory over the Epworth Bishops last week the championship of the No. 1 circuit is little nearer solution now than it was a week ago. A possibility exists, and a not-so-remote one, that there will again be three teams tied for the league lead after Tuesday of this week.

Calvary clashes with the Irish and Epworth Bishops take on Trinity Baptist in the headline battles. These four teams are all in the first division and hard battles are likely to result. Should the Irish beat Calvary and the Bishops beat Trinity three teams will again be deadlocked for the lead. However should Trinity win and Calvary win there will not be more than one team occupying a particular position. That would be the first time since the season started there has been no deadlocks in this league.

John Clark has a chance to bring his Epworth No. 1 team into a first division post for the first time this year should Trinity lose. However, should Trinity win, Clark will have to stand by and wait for someone else to drop out of the first division before he can enter that is assuming of course that he can win himself the latter point not being altogether certain by any means.

All interest in the Industrial circuit for the time being centers on finding someone who can submerge the blue and white of the C. D. & M. Electric company. It looks right now like the Erie Roundhouse is the last remaining obstacle in the path of the electricians. The railroaders are confident of being able to pound out a victory over the blue and white. However, it seems improbable the electricians can be headed off at this late date.

The Prospect Firemen will be the only team in the Commercial league this week to encounter serious opposition. On Wednesday the smoke-eaters will attempt to settle a former tie game with the Kappas and on Friday will tackle the K. of P. nine. Should the Kappas win Wednesday the two will be tied for first but should Prospect win it will give them a big boost toward the top of the pennant pole. They should win both games but a victory for either or both of the other two would not be classed as more than a mild upset. The other Commercial league games do not promise more than ordinary action.

Besides the Prospect-Kappas play-off there are two other games booked for play on Wednesday. The Gasco club will play off its postponed game with the Silk Mills at the Steam Shovel diamond and Serv-U-Wel will play off a postponed encounter with the General Excavator. Lincoln park is not available for play on Wednesday this week.

BLUES PUT ON SPEED IN EFFORT TO PASS ASSOCIATION LEADERS

Columbus Handed Double Beating as Kansas City Wins Eighth, Ninth.

CHICAGO, July 20.—It has taken a lot of time and scheming but Albert "Dutch" Zwilling finally has gotten his Kansas City Blues headed toward one of the more choice positions in the American Association championship struggle. The Blues floundered around the lower regions for more than two months, and appeared to be a good candidate for the cellar until Zwilling started collecting new talent. A whole new infield, consisting of Monahan at first, Marquardt at second, Treadaway at third and Bill Akers at short, was acquired, along with some pitching help and the Blues began to win.

Today they were in fourth place, one game out of second, and owned the best winning streak of the season—nine straight. They got numbers eight and nine yesterday, taking a doubleheader from Columbus, 12 to 11, and 3 to 2. Kansas City was charged with seven errors in the first game, but bunched 16 hits to squeeze out the decision. They got only seven hits off Al Grabowski in the second game, but gave Pete Donohue perfect support.

St. Paul divided a doubleheader with Indianapolis, and retained its six and one-half game lead over Louisville, which split a pair with Minneapolis. The Indians raked Murphy and Van Atta for 18 hits in the first game and won, 14 to 3. In the second Huck Betts out-pitched Oral Hildebrand, Marty Griffin and Berly Horne for a 6 to 5 edge. Horne pitched to only two batters in the ninth, but was charged with the defeats when the Saints scored twice off him.

Minneapolis defeated Louisville, 5 to 3, in the first game of their doubleheader, but the Colonels did some tall hitting in the second to win by 12 to 2. Rube Benton gained credit for his tenth victory of the season in the opener, although Sheehan and Ellwirth pitched the final inning for him and put down a rally after two opposing batters. Batteries for the game were: Slik Mills, Coats and Betz; All-Stars, Robbins and Pettinelli. The All-Stars play the Honey Krust Bakers today.

Art Shires hit a home run with the bases full in the third inning of the first game between Milwaukee and Toledo, and later drove in another pair of runs to help the Brewers to a 14 to 10 victory. He failed to hit safely in the second game, and the rest of the Brewers got only five hits off Cooney, the Mud Hens winning, 10 to 1, in six innings.

Jenner Lunches Pound Out Win Over Crestline

Bedecked in new uniforms the Jenner Lunches' softball team banded the strong Crestline team a 3 to 2 beating yesterday on the Steam Shovel diamond. Crestline's two scores came when Claybaugh checked a homer in the third with one mate aboard. Bill Roush banged out three hits for the winners and Whitlum and Nemeayer errorless ball while two misplays were credited to Crestline. Bob Gamble struck out 12 men and Johnson five. Both allowed nine hits.

Batteries and score by innings. Jenner Lunches 300 002 000-5 9 0 Crestline 002 000 000-2 9 2 Lunches, Gamble and Wolfe; Crestline, Johnson and Greter.

CALEDONIA WINS 3-1

MICKEY'S EASY, SINGS SHARKEY AS BATTLE TIME DRAWS NEAR

Nothing to It! I'll Wallop Him in About Eighth, Gob Tells Press.

By Edward J. Neil
Associated Press Sports Writer

BOMPTON LAKES, N. J., July 20.—Jack Walker help him get the boxing practice he needs for an August match with Tommy Loughran. Seven rounds Mickey can play around in there with him Wednesday night and then—poof!

The big sailorman from Boston has considerable powers of expression. His pale blue eyes flash as he talks, his gestures help him tell his story dramatically, decisively. He wastes no words—talks as he hits—straight from the shoulder.

"Mickey is a nice little fellow and the more people think he has a chance to whip me in Ebbets field Wednesday night, the more will pay to see us fight, but he's only a middleweight and there aren't any middleweights around today, no matter how good they are, kicking Jack Sharkey."

May Be Surprised
"They've been saying I was fat and slow and boxing like an old lady in training. Maybe that will help the gate, I don't know. But it won't help Walker much."

"I'm not going to be in any hurry with Mickey. I haven't fought but four rounds—the four I pasted that Dutchman Schmeling before he yelled foul—in almost two years and I need the work before I fight Tommy Loughran again in August at Ebbets field. So I figure I'll go along with Mickey for seven or eight rounds and then knock him over."

Sharkey doesn't relish much the idea of whipping a 170 pounder of Walker's stature and he probably will feel a bit ashamed of himself when the referee calls them to the ring.

10,000 ATTEND AIRPORT EVENT

22 Planes Take Part in Program at Bucyrus Dedication.

Special to The Star
BUCYRUS, July 20.—More than 10,000 people witnessed Bucyrus' biggest aviation day in the history of the city held Sunday afternoon when Port Bucyrus was formally dedicated with a program of aerial races, contests and demonstrations. Twenty-two planes of various makes representing the entire state took part in the celebration. Preceding the aerial program a luncheon was held in the hangar for pilots and other distinguished guests and members of the chamber of commerce, Rotary club and city officials with covers placed for 175.

Salute Opens Events
An aerial salute opened the air events at 2 p. m. and events included a 25-mile race, free-for-all race, dead stick landing, and balloon bursting contests. Demonstrations by an autogyro piloted by Blanche Noyes, of Cleveland, was a feature.

Only two minor mishaps occurred throughout the day's events. Julian Miller of Castalia, was forced down in a field southeast of the port during the 25-mile race when a water pump on his plane became defective. An official Mansfield News plane, piloted by Howard Fry, of Ashland, lost a portion of its landing gear when a coupling broke after he had landed on the field.

Important aviation personages who were in attendance, most of whom arrived in planes were Frank M. McKee, director of aeronautics for Ohio; Clifford W. Henderson, Cleveland, managing director of the National Air races; Mary E. Von Mach, Detroit; Walter Davis, Richmond, Ind.; Cal Johnson, Cleveland; Marjorie Benedict, Columbus; C. R. Lane, Cleveland; P. M. Trause, Alliance; Howard Fry, Ashland; Jerry Nettleton, Toledo; C. J. Fenton, Toledo; Julian Miller, Castalia; Claire Keller, Prospect; Elmer Parrel, Plymouth; C. S. Beltz and Harold Cobb, Marion; Martha Morehead Johnson, Columbus; W. J. Gory, Columbus; George W. Lamm, Toledo, and O. W. Overholser, Toledo.

SCOUTS TO ATTEND STATE FAIR MEET

Fox Patrol Qualifies in Events Held at Summer Camp.

The Fox patrol of Troop 5 of the Harding Area of the Boy Scouts of America was awarded the distinction Saturday of representing the local area of the Regional Campfire to be held at the Ohio State Fair in Columbus in August. The patrol is under the leadership of Jerome Brown and won the honor by qualifying in the greatest number of events in the campfire held at Scout Camp John A. Owens Saturday afternoon.

The competition was held in spite of rain and threatening weather and the scouts carried out the program in efficient style. Troop five, of which the Fox patrol is a part, is sponsored by Post No. 162 of the American Legion.

The committee of judges for the events was composed of the senior camp staff, including H. E. Fast, Edwin McComb, F. O. Tuttle Jr., Frank Jackson, James Barker, and T. O. Showers. Honor ribbons were presented to patrols from troops 2, 3, and 5 of Marion and troop 23 of Bucyrus in recognition of their making a grade of 85 per cent or more in the various events. These ribbons were presented at a campfire which was held at 8 p. m. in the dining lodge due to inclement weather out-of-doors. Each lodge of the camp presented a stunt as part of the evening program. A large number of parents and friends were present for the day's program.

Some of the events which made up the competition were the use of the compass, fire by friction, knot tying, signaling, tree identification, and others. The scout master of the honor troops are Ralph Emmons, troop 2, Dr. V. C. Kiesel, troop 3, Floyd Browne, troop 5, and Frank Jackson of Bucyrus, troop 23.

Tuesday is the last day of the present period of the camp and the second period will commence Thursday with a large attendance expected. Many of the present campers are expected to remain, in addition to the new campers which will enroll. No cases of illness of any kind have been reported at the camp.

IN MEMORIAM
July 20, 1931.
In memory of our darling son, Harold Dee.
Dec. 10, 1922. July 20, 1929.
Beautiful little treasures.
They were my heart's delight.
Hands like springtime blossoms.
Daintiest pink and white.

Chubby and warm and dimpled; Oh could I feel them now!
Softly my cheek caressing, Patting my aching brow.

Trying to grasp the sunbeams, Straying about the floor, Gleefully pulling the flowers Growing around he door.

Tossing with grace unstudied; Oh could I only see Sweet little hands extended, Eager to come to me!

One day the laughing sunbeams, Bringing the morning's gold, Saw their fair playmates lying Snowy and still, and cold.

Oh, they have found the sunshine, Dear, blessed baby, hands!
I, thro' the dark catch glimpses, Knowing God understands.

Dear little hands! Precious hands!
Beautiful baby hands!
I shall clasp them to my heart again.

Those beautiful baby hands, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Ledley.

Marionites Have One More Day To Become Eligible To Ballot in Primaries.

Are you properly registered? That is the question Marionites should ask themselves at once, C. G. Ritzler, deputy clerk of the board of elections said today pointing out that the registration deadline for the August primaries will be reached Tuesday night.

Persons who should be sure to register before Tuesday night are those who have reached their twenty-first year since the last election, who have changed residence since the last registration, and those who have changed their names by marriage since registration.

For the convenience of prospective voters, the offices of the board of elections will be kept open until 9 tonight and Tuesday night. Many took advantage of the extension of office hours Saturday and registered between 7 and 9 p. m.

SCOUTS END CAMP OUTING

Initiation Features Activities at Camp John A. Owens.

The closing events of the first period Boy Scout camp of the season at Camp John A. Owens were held last night, including the last camp fire of the period, the initiation of nine leaders and scouts as council scouts, the awarding of honors and the induction of a new troop.

The feature of the ceremonies was the initiation of the council scouts. This was a special award made in recognition of special leadership and camp service. Men receiving the rank of council scout were H. E. East, Edward McComb, James A. Barker, F. O. Tuttle Jr., T. O. Showers, Frank D. Jackson, William Horgan, Warren Knobbe, and Arthur S. Brooks. Each candidate was given an Indian name and a portion of the ashes of the campfire as a token. They were pledged to the ideals of scouting and camping.

The court of honor of the Harding Area was present and made awards of class rank and merit badges. The court of honor consists of Roy Waddell, chairman, George Bowman, John H. Clark, John Wiedemann and Clyde C. Caldwell. Those receiving badges for an advanced rank in scouting were Richard Crow, Donald Grover, Tommy Showers, Howard Fogle, John Neidhart all of troop 5, second class; David Murray, troop 10, merit badge in bird study, James Murphy, troop 12, merit badge in swimming; Jack Hagaman, troop 21, star scout; and Don Hagaman, also of troop 21, life scout.

One of the most interesting parts of the program was the induction of troop 23 of Bucyrus into the Harding Area. This troop is sponsored by the Bucyrus Rotary club, whose representative last night was E. H. Deitrich, superintendent of schools of Bucyrus. Deitrich introduced the troop committee, which was appointed by the club and includes H. E. Cook, Ed Hagaman, and E. C. Lewis, all of Bucyrus. Cook, who is chairman of the committee, received the troop charter from Arthur S. Brooks, scout executive for the Harding Area.

PRISON DOORS CLOSE BEHIND ALBERT FALL

After serving several terms in the territorial legislature and then becoming a captain in the Spanish-American war.

After the war, Fall re-entered politics, although he changed his party affiliation from Democratic to Republican. As a Republican, in 1912, he was elected to the United States senate. He was an antagonist of the late President Woodrow Wilson in all affairs concerning Mexico and a foe of the League of Nations.

Fall March 4, 1921, became secretary of the interior in the cabinet of the late President Warren G. Harding. He had wanted to be secretary of state, but Charles Evans Hughes was selected for that post.

The secretary of the interior resigned two years later and retired to his ranch to spend his declining days in the territory he helped to build.

Called Before Senate
This quiet was short lived. October 23, 1923, he appeared before the senate committee investigating naval oil leases he had made while in the cabinet. He told the committee his leases to Edward L. Doheny and Harry Sinclair were good business.

Doheny and Fall had met as friends years before when each was a penniless prospector. Fall made a trip to Europe for Sinclair in connection with some Russian concessions in June, 1924, a federal grand jury indicted Fall, Doheny and Sinclair on conspiracy charges. He and Doheny were acquitted Dec. 26, 1926.

The senatorial committee delved further. Money spent on improvements at the ranch came under scrutiny.

Fall sought, by his own testimony and through friends of long standing, to keep from the record a story that, as finally written by evidence, was described in senate debate as "a disclosure of public betrayal of trust without parallel in half a century."

Oct. 7, 1929, Fall went on trial in Washington, on a bribery charge. He was convicted Oct. 25, the same year, sentenced to one year in jail and ordered to pay a fine of $100,000. An appeal to the District of Columbia court of appeals was unsuccessful. May 27, Fall's attorneys asked the supreme court to reverse the decision, but the court refused.

A presidential pardon was sought vainly in petitions from Fall's friends.

nounced yesterday he had located the home of a tribe of the Negroid type "more Aryan than anything yet discovered in the search for the earliest cradle of human life."

Because the tribe was kept underground virtually in captivity by tribes of nomadic hostile to white men, Dr. Torrance said his party, headed by Dr. William Simpson of the Royal Society of Tropical Research, was unable to learn many of the secrets of the mysterious race.

The explorer said, however, some of the Aryan featured underground people had escaped from their regular confines.

"They were once black, apparently," he said, "but are now a dusty gray. Their spoken words have hardly developed to the stage where they can be called a language."

NEW HOPE AROUSED

Washington Again Revives Spirit of European Conference.

LONDON, July 21.—News from Washington that President Hoover had authorized Secretary of State Stimson to present an American program stirred new hope today that the powers in conference here would be able to resuscitate Germany and inject new life into the moribund commerce of the world.

The American suggestion shared interest with a last-minute shift in the program from Chancellor Bruening of Germany.

After an informal talk over the dinner table with Prime Minister MacDonald following the first session of the conference, Herr Bruening made up his mind to withdraw his plea for immediate short term credits of $375,000,000. He determined, instead, to ask only for a continuation of the present short term credits, estimated at $125,000,000.

The German chancellor arrived at this decision before word reached here that the United States was coming to the front with suggestions, and the possible effect of the American program on his plans remained uncertain.

Germany's problem, the prime minister is reported to have told the chancellor, is to reestablish himself in the confidence of the world.

In opening the conference last night Mr. MacDonald declared that "the present moment may be one of the turning points of the history of the world, for good or ill."

"If we cannot find a solution of the present crisis," he said, "no one can forestall the political and financial dangers which will ensue. If we can find such a solution it will

Dr. Rongy urges that legalized birth control information be supplied to all that want it in order to discourage criminal operations to prevent childbirth. LAW CHANGED FOR 76 DAYS Drigby Plans To Enforce Pringle Automobile Transfer Act.

Preparations are being made by Everett B. Drigby, clerk of courts, to enforce the Pringle bill governing the filing of bills of sale, for a 76 day period beginning July 31. The Pringle bill was passed by the legislature early this year and was designed to prevent thefts and frauds in the transfer of motor vehicles by amending sections of the law now governing the filing of bills of sale. But the legislature evidently changed its mind about the merits of the Pringle bill, for it passed the Marshall bill only a few weeks ago which substantially repeals the Pringle bill and reinstates existing procedures in the filing of bills of sale.

One of the reasons for repealing the Pringle bill was the estimated cost of establishing the system outlined in the bill.

However, the repeal act cannot take effect until 76 days after the Pringle law becomes effective, so clerks of courts all over the state must comply with the provisions of the Pringle act for 76 days, and then revert to present methods.

The Pringle act provides for "certificates of title" to replace the existing "bills of sale." In cases where an automobile is sold on the mortgage plan, the owner will actually receive an application for a "certificate of title" instead of the clear title to the car. When the mortgage has been taken up, the certificate proper will be given him, according to Clerk Drigby.

The provisions of this act must be complied with during the 76-day period to make titles to automobiles given during that period legal.

DENIES CHARGES

R. E. Brewer Files Answer in Auto Damage Suit.

The answer of Roy E. Brewer in the damage suit brought against him in common pleas court by Eva Schrader White, a minor by her next friend, John Schrader was filed yesterday in common pleas court.

Brewer maintains that a traffic accident, from which the lawsuit grew, was caused by the negligence of the driver of the automobile in which the plaintiff was riding, and not through any fault of his. Brewer was riding on a horse-drawn wagon which was struck by the Schrader car.

Automobiles driven by Schrader and James Gallagher were going north on the Upper Sandusky road at the rate of 60 miles an hour, racing side by side, when they ran into his wagon, Brewer maintains. The law firm of Carhart & Warner is counsel for Brewer.

Left-over make-up—cream, rouge and powder that lodge deep in the pores and refuse to yield to ordinary facial cleansing is the unseen mischief-maker that leads to coarse skin texture, blackheads, whiteheads and blemishes.

But Broadway's favorite actresses have found a simple way to outwit the impairment of left-over make-up—they cleanse the skin completely with Thylox Sulphur Soap.

You probably know that sulphur is widely used in the treatment of abnormal skin conditions . . . and the colloidal sulphur in Thylox Sulphur Soap is considered superior to all other sulphurs in correcting oily and unsightly skins. This soap is bland and gentle in action, but gratifyingly sure. Use Thylox Sulphur Soap regularly, night and morning, and you will notice a great improvement in the tone and texture of your skin . . . The water may be hard or soft, warm or cold. You'll like this soap also for washing your hair.

Your druggist has Thylox Sulphur Soap, 35c a cake; $1.00 a box of 3 cakes—get a box today.

"Reliable colloidal sulphur is accorded by Jacob (The N. C. J. 1915) and others to be superior to the official sulphur in the treatment of skin disease."

Most sulphur soaps are made from ordinary sulphur. The same is true of the Thylox Sulphur Soap by name, and that is sure of getting the genuine colloidal sulphur soap. Don't just say "sulphur soap"—say "Thylox Sulphur Soap."

Boy's Vital Organs Found Out of Place

By International News Service RAVENNA, O., July 21.—A post mortem on the body of 7-year-old Richard Melster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Melster here, following his mysterious death, disclosed that most of the boy's vital organs were out of place.

Richard died at Mt. Sinai hospital, Cleveland, where physicians discovered that the boy's stomach occupied the space normally filled by a lung that one lung was missing, and that the heart was on the right side of the chest.

According to his parents, Richard always seemed to become short of breath much more quickly than his playmates after any exercise, but he seemed to be normal otherwise.

"Dickie" died after an illness of 12 days, which completely puzzled physicians as it completely puzzled his parents.

Defective Wiring Starts $300 Fire in Residence.

Fire thought to have started from a defective wire, did $300 damage at the home of Samuel D.
White at 421 south Grand avenue late last night.
The family was absent from home at the time and the blaze was discovered by neighbors who called the fire department. Firemen from the No. 3 station who answered the call found the kitchen in flames and the fire was extinguished after the ceiling of the kitchen and a portion of the roof were destroyed.

MANAGUA, NICARAGUA, July 21.—United States marine corps an-plane patrols today reinforced national guard troops delegated to put down insurgent uprisings which have occurred in several places in Nicaragua during the last few days, resulting in eight deaths.

A large party armed with pistols and machine guns entered the town of Rama on the L. Colorado river Sunday and after sharp fighting was driven back by national guardsmen.
Three of the invaders and one guardsman were killed.

About the same time 250 men under Pedro Altamirano, Santaista chief, sacked the small mining town of Santa Domingo in Chentles department, according to official reports. Police killed one of the insurgents.

On Saturday a national guard patrol was ambushed on both sides of the Chiriqui river at Escalvado by insurgents, the government has been informed. Three of the insurgents were killed and one guardsman was wounded.

Daily Proverb—"Many persons take advice as they do physic; to fling aside the moment the doctor's back is turned."

It was so hot in Chicago, a day or two ago, that a woman in jail under a sentence of six months for contempt of court was released after having served three days. Here we have an illustration of the effect of heat on the "quality of mercy."

Of course, the country may be able to survive the filing of a divorce petition by Ina Claire against John Gilbert, but it's going to prove an awful pull upon its stamina.

"Starvation is stalking Unpaid Chicago Teachers," reads a headline over a Chicago story detailing the hardships suffered by four or five teachers out of the 14,000 who get no salary for two months. It seems to be the present-day tendency to make the most of any misfortune which may come to any city or section of the country.

"I do not think that any fads ought to be represented in parliament except my own," says Lord Buckmaster, "and they are not fads, but eternal principles." It may be said, in passing, that in our own national legislative bodies we have gentlemen suffering from the same disease as that by which this titled foreigner is afflicted.

The members of the rural district council of Llanelgion, Wales, were so astonished when they learned that the woman caretaker of the council office had been furnishing her own brushes and firewood, all for twenty-five cents a week, that they at once doubled her pay without ever stopping to consider the havoc that their generosity might work to the district's finances.

The health officer of the district of Columbia holds that the high temperatures recently experienced by Washington practically ended the epidemic of measles there, where 4,161 cases and twelve fatalities had been reported since January 1 as compared with 807 cases and one death in all of 1930. Naturally, it is good to read of the benefit resulting from the heat wave in the national capital, but it's poor compensation for the more than a thousand deaths from heat throughout the country.

Two Years of the Farm Board

Two years ago the eight members of the federal farm board rolled up their sleeves and started to work. A month before, on June 15, President Hoover had approved the agricultural marketing act, which created the board. It was organized officially July 15.

Its activities have been the source of a lively chapter in the nation's economic life.
 It was created in a spirit of hope; it has continued in a spirit of frustration and despair.
 It is a question what it might have done had it been launched on a sea less rough and better charted.

With the revolving fund of $500,000,000 provided in the agricultural marketing act, the board was expected to do chiefly two things.
 The immediate need of agriculturalists for stabilizing price influences was to be answered by stabilization corporations, which have been formed to operate in wheat and cotton. The first of these has caused the board most of its trouble.

A more important function of the board was to prevent waste in distribution by encouraging the organization of farmer-owned and farmer-controlled cooperative marketing associations. It is in this function that the board reposes its best excuse for being after its two difficult years. If agriculture is to be helped, if it is to help itself, there must be the central direction that the farm board provides.

The first two years of the farm board have been hard—a grim business of ideals smashed hard by realities. The wheat stabilization corporation bought high and rode down with the market to the lowest point men can remember. The board asked farmers to plant less wheat, and they planted more. It helped the grape raisers and was attacked for aiding an industry that was defying the prohibition laws.

Its chairman, Alexander Leach, resigned.
 C. S. Teague, specialist in fruits, resigned. S.
 R. McKelvie, specialist in grains, finished his term and has not been replaced. A heavy loss is anticipated in the original amount of the board's revolving fund through stabilization operations; an even greater loss will result if the board does not recover its loans to farmer cooperatives. The board has not traveled a path of roses; rather, an unbroken wilderness with danger lurking at every point.

There is, withal, no talk of discontinuation.
 With millions of bushels of wheat on its hands, with huge debts hanging over its head, and many vulnerable places open to enemy fire, the board will plug along—making more tenable jobs at realities in the name of idealistic theory. It may win in the end, but the battle goes hard at the end of the Decreasing Cost of Living.

Were the potential consumer to take advantage of the situation, he might profit decidedly by supplying his needs at this time, for all kinds of things are being done to the high cost of living of which we have had daily reminders during the last decade.

Statistics given out by the bureau of labor statistics show that the cost of living for the country as a whole has decreased 26.6 per cent from the post-war level of 1920. It has dropped ten per cent since June of that year.

The prices of commodities are yet far distant from what they were in the pre-war year, 1913. As a matter of fact, living costs are still fifty per cent higher than they were then with the exception of food prices, which are but eighteen. They probably never will fall to the 1913 level. There is no more chance of that than there is that the increased pre-war profits realized during the spending orgy following the war will again obtain. But retail prices generally have dropped from the post-war levels, as stated, and wholesale commodity prices showed a decrease of 16.8 per cent during the year and one and three-quarters from the beginning of May to the beginning of June of the present year.

It is especially interesting to note that, taking the prices of 1926 as a basis of figuring and calling them 100, the labor bureau's index of June wholesale prices stood seventy, against 71.2 in May and 68.8 the preceding June. This means that the purchasing power of the dollar of 1926 is now $1.426. In other words, a dollar today has almost forty-three cents greater purchasing power than it did in 1926.

It no doubt is true that the depression from which the country has suffered for the last twenty months is in large part responsible for the dwindling cost of living, and just as naturally, continued buying will have a tendency to strengthen prices, but the latter possibility should not stop buying while the buying is good, especially when buying is the one thing more than any other which will do away with unemployment and bring a world in the financial doldrums back to normal.

In New York City the seventy-four-year-old victim of an attempt at extortion is held for manslaughter in connection with the death of the leader of a gang of racketeers who was stabbed and fatally wounded by the veteran.
 That may be law, but justice should impel the presenting to him of a medal.

Finding that $300,000 could be saved by installment steam turbine power in the modernization of the battleships, New Mexico, Idaho and Mississippi, the navy department will substitute steam turbines for the electric drive of the first-named warship, the other two being steam equipped. And yet we are told that the leopard can not change its spots!

$1,896,755 for Mothers' Pensions.

Figures given out in Columbus by the Ohio Institute last week show that the total of the expenditures for mothers' pensions in Ohio in 1930 was $1,896,755. These figures should be accurate, as they were furnished in the cases of all the eighty-eight counties of the state save four by the state bureau of inspection and supervision of public offices. The four counties exempted were Columbiana, Madison, Pike and Scioto. In the case of Pike county the judge of the juvenile court gave the figures, and the expenditures for the purpose indicated in the other three counties were supplied by their county auditors.

Marion county's contribution to this $1,896, 755 total was $8,687. Quite an item, it may be said, and yet an analysis of the data supplied by the Ohio Institute shows that our county, with a per capita wealth of $2,002, contributed but nineteen cents per capita to the fund.

There is no disposition herein to attack the mothers' pension idea, but at a time when the state faces a deficit after exceptional expenditures on the part of the general assembly to devise ways and means to wipe out its threatened deficit, it will in part explain the reason for the burden against which the people of the state are wont to complain. The sum of $1,896,755 is relatively small compared with some other expenditures of the state, but it and the other sociological ideas which have been adopted in the state combine to add measurably to the burden.

Up in Chicago, a wife is seeking a divorce because her husband denies her the use of shoes and stockings, figuring that to be the best way to keep her from "going to parties where she might meet other men." We can't say about the shoes, but the absence of stockings in this day and age shouldn't prove an insurmountable handicap.

The tire people claim that 22 1/2 cents will buy as much tire today as a dollar did in 1915. How can there be any real want in a land where tires are going at bargain prices like that?

After months of labor, Marshal Henri Petain, chief of the air defense of France, has completed a survey and handed in his report to the government in which he recommends to municipalities and to individuals the best method of building bomb-proofs and the most efficient way of using gas masks and stresses heavily the importance of strong fleets of bombing planes to hold enemy air activity in check. Thus France proceeds in preparations for world peace!

A Columbus motorist is in a Lancaster hospital, having severed an artery in one of his arms and another in one of his legs while attempting to knock and kick the glass out of a window which stuck. A driver of that temperament should see to it that his machine is equipped with an ax.

Martial law has been proclaimed in Seville, Spain, following a battle at the funeral of a striker in which six persons were killed and many wounded, which will probably defeat the plan of the anarchists to tie up the city in the general strike called by them. The new provisional government probably realizes by this time that the anarchists who aided in the overthrow of the monarchy were not inspired by hatred of a monarchical form of government but rather by hatred of any form of Editorial Opinion.

TROTSKY AND KERENSKY.

Generosity is not among the salient traits of Trotsky's character. His autobiography revealed, along with incontestably great gifts, an extraordinary egotism. His first resolve to get all the credit due him would not have even before the great leader, Lenin, whose prestige emanates from Trotsky's book, considerably reduced. Against his opponents, the former head of the Red army has always had at his command an unrivaled genius for invective and vituperation. And of all his opponents, not even excepting Stalin, his scorn has borne down hardest on the tender-hearted and soft-headed revolutionaries of the men-shievist and social revolutionist school, from whom the bolshevik seized control of the Russian revolution in November, 1917. There is a sublime moment in Trotsky's book when the timid radicals, on the eve of their debacle, made overtures of peace, only to be waved away with a Napoleonic gesture. "Go to the rubbish heap of history, where you belong," Trotsky quotes himself as saying to these frightened and incompetent pseudo revolutionists.

Under the circumstances it is nothing short of astonishing to encounter in the latest independent of Trotsky's story of the Russian revolution, now running in the Saturday Evening Post, an entry from the czar's diary during the last days of the monarchy. Nichololas II is away at G. I. Q. at Mohilev, whence he was never to return as czar. His wife, at St. Petersburg, writes to him in journal form, and on February 24, 1917, she gives utterance according to Trotsky to the following sentiment:

"I hope they will hang this duma deputy, Kerensky, who means Kerensky for his horrible speeches. It is necessary to hang him, and it will be an example. All are thirsting and praying that you will be firm." Was it sheer inadvertence on Trotsky's part to cite a document so favorable to Kerensky's place in history? Or is the stern metal of the former red war lord's character softening a bit, now that he has in turn been consigned to the rubbish heap of history by Stalin? In either case he has furnished an important corrective to the popular reading of Russian history since 1917. In circles not at all sympathetic to bolshevism the name of Kerensky is regularly received with devotion. The mildest procedure is to call him a pathetic figure. He is also a futile figure and a windy declaimer and other things. Largely this verdict registers the inevitable penalties of failure. But in great measure, too, it illustrates the world's gift for every quickly forgetting or never quite understanding.

The czarina did not urge her imperial husband to have Trotsky and Lenin hanged, for the very good reason that one of the men was in Switzerland and the other was in New York.
 But Kerensky was on the spot in St. Petersburg, making inflammatory speeches against the czarist government. The Trotsky citation from the czar's diary is a reminder of the commonly forgotten fact that before the bol-shevist revolution there was a democratic revolution which made an end of the czarist system, and that the leaders of that first revolution—Kerensky, Mikulskoff and others—put their heads into a noose when they openly challenged the autocracy, and challenged its successfully. Even the later history of Kerensky's aspirations for a solution of Russia's problems by cooperation instead of civil war and in friendship with the Allies—will some day bear examination by the student of history. The man who could induce a discouraged, demoralized, unarmed, hungry Russian army to launch that last, hopeless offensive of July, 1917, is something more than a ridiculous figure. But last of all, would the words describe the man who, in the winter of 1916-17, staked his life on the overthrow of the Romanoffs and succeeded. — New York Times, July 18.

CONVALESCING.

Is Cancer Hereditary?

BY ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Almost everybody has a great fear of cancer. This apprehension is increased when there is a history of cancer in the family.
 I can readily appreciate and understand this feeling. But it is absurd to assume that because a grandparent or parent has been afflicted with this disease that it will be transmitted to the offspring.

The tendency for cancer to run in certain families has been recognized for a long time.
 However, there is no proof that cancer is definitely a hereditary condition. It may be true that an individual belonging to a family in which there have been many cases of cancer, is more liable to the disease than another individual whose family has not been afflicted with it.

It is important for us to understand more thoroughly the mechanism by which cancer is inherited. This has not been definitely determined, but much information has been developed within the past ten years. An individual inherits, not the disease itself, but a tendency toward cancer. On this account considerable individuals should be on guard against this disease.

It should be remembered that cancer, recognized in its early stages, is usually curable.
 Because of this fact, individuals belonging to cancerous families and on the outlook for trouble, are often much better off than others who never suspect the possibility of acquiring the disease.

Most persons are apt to be careless and negligent in regard to the general health.
 Sometimes the underlying cause of ill health is a cancerous growth. If recognized early, it can be removed, either by surgery or by other methods at our disposal. The disease can be entirely eradicated. When neglected and surgery is resorted to merely as a last recourse, the results are less favorable.

Cosmic or Comic Rays?

BY ARCHIBALD HENDERSON.

The discoveries within recent years regarding the silent, mighty force coming in to us from the remotest depths of inter-stellar space, constitute the most astounding and revolutionary finding of the present century in astrophysics. Indeed, the conclusions arrived at have been so spectacular on the one hand and so encouraging on the other that considerable doubt has been expressed in some quarters regarding the justness of some conclusions.

At this time there are two schools of thought regarding cosmic radiation. One represents the utmost optimism; the other the utmost pessimism, regarding the future of the universe. Sir James Jeans represents the latter school, and sees the universe, according to the second law of dynamics, gradually breaking down until finally matter will have disintgrated and become burned to ashes, and all space will be filled with a pale glow, something like starlight. As he phrases it in his effective way: "Mass is converted into radiant energy, but that process is nowhere reversible.
 Matter will thus ultimately be all converted into radiation—e. i. it will simply disappear."

Thus, observation and theory agree that the universe is melting away into radiation. Our position is that of polar bears on an iceberg that has broken loose from its ice-pack surrounding the pole, and is inexorably melting away as the iceberg drifts to warmer latitudes toward ultimate extinction.

On the other hand stands the famous American physicist, Robert Andrews Millikan, with a theory diametrically opposed to that of Sir James Jeans. It happens to be an optimistic theory, and if the conclusions arrived at by Millikan are correct, then this theory points toward the existence of a beneficent guardian of the universe.

When the first announcements were made regarding cosmic rays, there was considerable skepticism regarding them among scientists.
 Indeed, not a few scientists expressed their absolute disbelief in cosmic rays. They would have preferred to name them "comic" rays.
 Hoffman in Germany, Swann in America, expressed strong doubt of their cosmic origin.

It appears that McLennan and Rutherford, as far back as 1903, discovered certain radiations near the earth's surface so penetrating that they were capable of passing through thick screens of lead. A long series of investigations followed on the part of Hess, Kolhauer and Millikan, at first carried on by means of electroscopes sent up in pilot balloons. Later Millikan, assisted by others, made studies of the effects of these rays at great depths in mountain lakes at very high altitudes. He came to the surprising conclusion that these cosmic rays are produced by disintegration and constantly recurring atomic formations involving very much greater energy changes than any occurring in radioactive processes. Just where these changes occur is not certainly known. Millikan thinks they occur in some infinitely remote abysses of interstellar or intergalactic space where the pressures and temperatures are close to absolute zero.—Copyright, 1931, International Feature

Raiders and the Shakers.

BY J. H. GALBRAITH.

When Morgan's raiders swung through southern Ohio they passed very close to the Unionville Shaker settlement in Warren county —a series of well-stocked and equipped farms of which Morgan must have known, but for some reason their property was touched very lightly. Non-combatant by principle, the members of the organization had kept out of touch with the course of the war, but a boy who had been 1883, saw the great cloud of dust raised by the hard-riding raiders and returned to report. Still in doubt, the leaders sent out Fred Faulhaber, a young member of the settlement, mounted on a fast horse, to get the facts.
 He approached near enough to the main body of the raiding party to be fired upon by their advance guard and he was pursued by them, but fresh and nimble horse soon put him out of danger, and on his arrival home the order was given to hide all livestock—especially the horses.

Morgan camped that night some miles south of Unionville, but his foragers paid the farms a visit. The records of the Shakers' organization show that only two horses were taken and these of no great value, and a small stock of provisions. So far as Morgan's operations were concerned the Shakers suffered only the loss of these horses and interruption for several days with their harvesting operations.

But they suffered more from the Union pursuits of Morgan. They came racing along the next day and continued for several days. The principal body of pursuers was composed of Indiana "Home Guards" under command of John H. Hobart, who represented that he had orders from the government to take whatever property his command was in need of, and they seem to have need for a lot. Under threat of kill, they compelled the Shakers to part with such livestock and property as they indicated, including some of the finest of the country's stock. On the whole, the Shakers felt that they had been treated more considerately by Morgan than by his pursuers.

 which Marion may suffer. From day to day, answers of various citizens to the same ques-"Better after First Bottle"

"AFTER my little girl was born, I was in an awful condition. I had bearing down pains and had to lie down a great deal. I read what other women had to say about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
